

Motor Oil

Immortelle infused organic Castor Oil

•

Helichrysum italicum
Immortelle or Helichrysum

Benefits

Reduction in scar tissue
Supports repair & production of collagen in dermal layer

•

Powerhouse of a plant with antioxidants, bioflavonoids, hydration & soothing properties.
A flowering plant in the daisy family.

•

My first experience with the live plant of immortelle was in Corsica visiting my dear friend & her family. Down a rocky road to a small beach immortelle shined; “pick me.”
Back at my dear friend’s house I created a medicated castor oil infusion with the dry milky wheat- like looking plant.

Along the years my friend had talked to me about the medicinal quality of immortelle for helping the dermal layer in the skin, supporting collagen production. Later, I found that it supports the reduction of scar tissue, further amplifying the benefits of castor oil.

Usage

(topical use only) for pre surgery, post-surgery when the wound is closed (sealed & healed) & for belly massage.

Be sure to add a heat medium after oil application & massage. A towel or t-shirt between you and heat medium are recommended. If heat medium is an electric pad, avoid falling asleep with it turned on.

•

Benefits of castor oil additionally received 😊

Contraindications

Avoid castor oil and heat application during menstrual cycle, active fertility & pregnancy
May be used internally via pelvis for spot treatments. Prior to any pelvic oiling, please contact me and I’d be happy to talk further about internal pelvic oiling.

Rusty Moon Botanicals
Return to the Earth